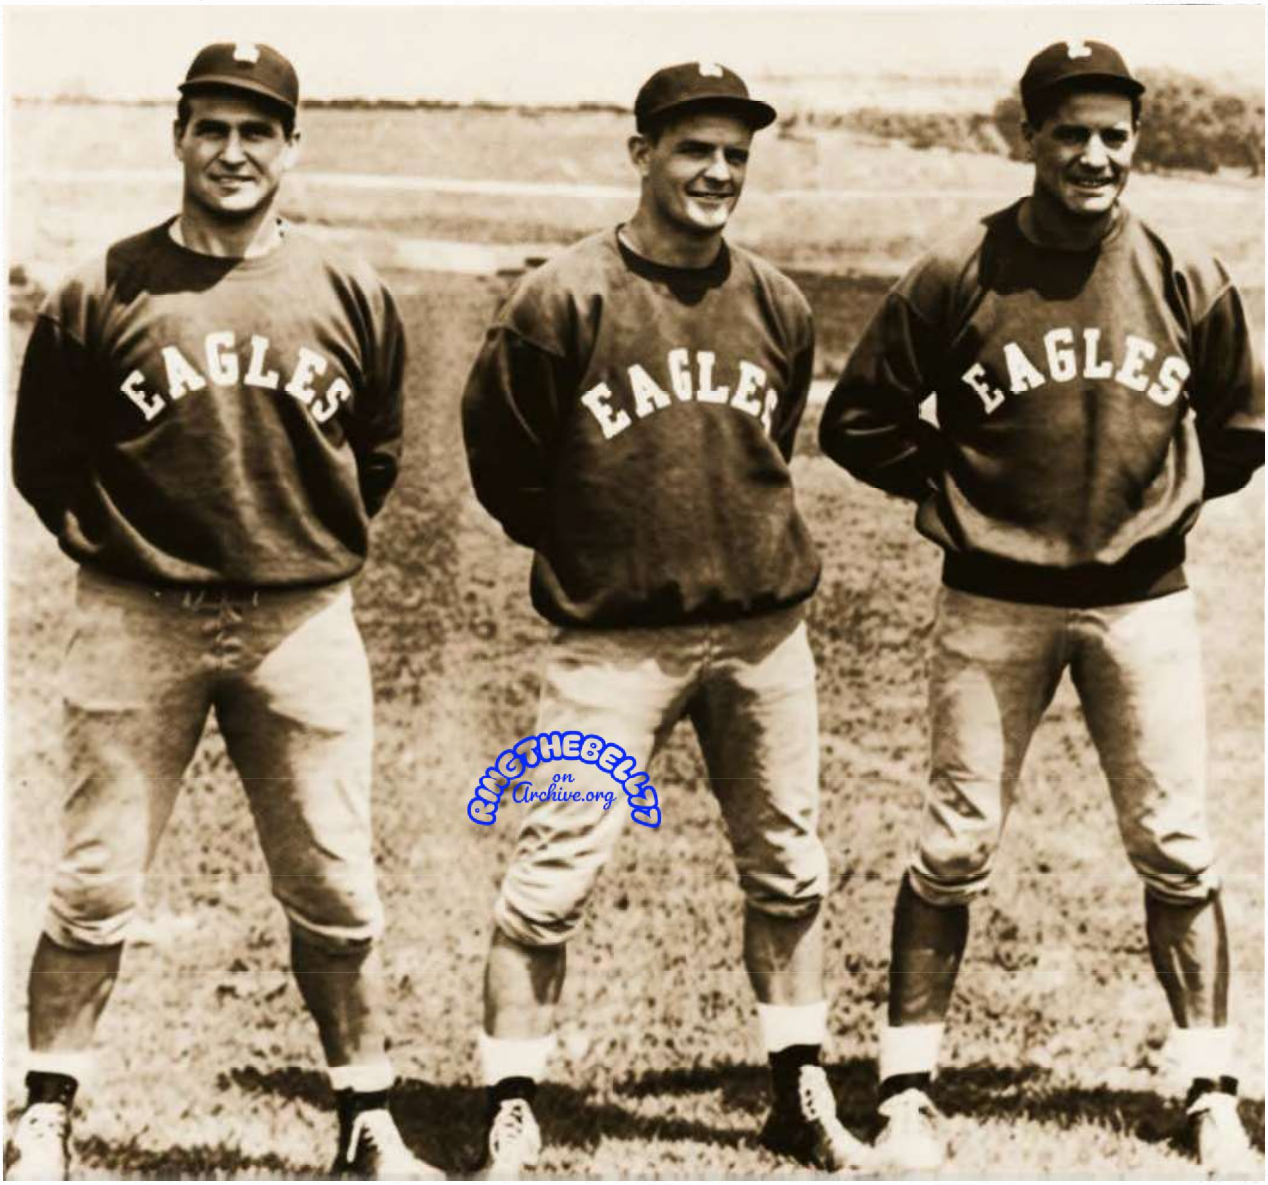
EAGLES COACHING STAFF



JIM TRIMBLE, FRANK REAGAN, VIC LINDSKOG

JAMES WILLIAM (TINY) TRIMBLE

HEAD COACH

Born May 29, 1918, McKeesport, Pa.

Jim Trimble set some kind of a record in 1952 when he was named "Coach Of The Year" by the Washington Touchdown Club after only two years in professional football . . . Tiny joined the Eagles as the late Bo McMillin's assistant in 1951 right from the campus of the University of Wichita where he was athletic director and head coach . . . he remained as aide when Wayne Millner succeeded McMillin in October, 1951 and then stepped to the front when Millner, himself, resigned because of ill health in September of 1952 . . . Trimble and his aides (Frank Reagan and Vic Lindskog) achieved a minor miracle in bringing the Eagles into a tie for second place with the New York Giants . . . Trimble was 35 May 29 and is the youngest head coach in the National Football League . . . as a player he was top tackle for the late McMillin at Indiana from 1939 through 1941 . . . the next four years found him in Uncle Sam's Navy as commanding officer . . . he returned to assist McMillin in spring practice of 1945 and 1946 . . . went to Wichita as line coach under Ralph Graham in 1946 . . . succeeded Graham as head coach and athletic director in 1948 and held both positions until resigning to take the Eagles' post . . . won letters in wrestling as well as football in college . . . lives with wife, Patricia, and four children in Drexel Hill, Pa.

FRANCIS XAVIER REAGAN

ASSISTANT COACH

Born July 28, 1919, Philadelphia, Pa.

A home town boy, Reagan made his bow as coach in 1952 with the team he has admired ever since his footballing days at Northeast Catholic High School . . . gifted with an agile mind and retentive memory, Reagan quickly won the respect of his former teammates . . . the popular Irishman was one of the University of Pennsylvania's brightest football stars in 1938, 1939 and 1940 as quarterback, ball carrier and punter . . . he was selected by the New York Giants for the 1941 season and played six games before leaving to join the Marine Corps . . . after four years' service as captain of the Marine detachment aboard the USS New Jersey, Reagan returned to the Giants in 1946 . . . he picked up where he left off and helped the Giants win the Eastern Division title only to have his jaw fractured in seven places in the 1946 playoff game with the Chicago Bears . . . for the next two seasons he played mostly on defense for the Giants and it was his defensive ability that prompted the Eagles to make a deal for him in 1949 . . . makes his home with his wife Katherine and four children in Roxborough, Philadelphia suburb.

VICTOR JUNIOR LINDSKOG

ASSISTANT COACH

Born December 3, 1914, Roundup, Montana

Often called "Mr. Center," Vic has embarked a long-looked-for career, that of coaching . . . rated the greatest offensive center in professional football, he is an exponent of the T formation and is compiling a book on the T that, when completed, should be the most exhaustive one of its kind . . . as a blocker, Vic had no equal in the eight years he battled for the Eagles . . . he learned his football first under the old T master, Clark Shaughnessy, at Stanford where he was named All-America . . . he was a member of the famed Cinderella team that concluded an unbeaten season by winning the 1941 Rose Bowl championship . . . returned to coach Stanford during spring practices from 1942 through 1946 and also was war-time physical education instructor at Stanford . . . Vic also handy guy with his dukes . . . he won the California State A.A.U. boxing title in 1938 . . . proud of a well-knit physique . . . he lives with his wife, Doris, and young son, in Drexel Hill.
